What to do:

★ When children arrive, pass out the enclosed Zathura nametags
★ Read the exciting space adventure Zathura by Chris Van Allsburg!
★ Get the event going with a game of “Robot Says”—it’s like Simon Says, but with a robot.
★ For your space “craft,” give each child a galaxy mobile to cut out and decorate with star stickers to make a wild solar system.
★ Hang up map of the solar system and identify the planets.
★ End your in-store Zathura event with a raffle drawing for the deluxe Zathura movie poster. Collect all of the name tags in a bag or bowl and then announce the winner!
Invitation to out-of-this-world adventure!

Come to our Zathura event. We’ll have lots of fun activities and a reading of Zathura!

Make an out-of-this-world galaxy mobile!

For this activity you will need the star stickers and string.

Cut along the dotted line in concentric circles to make a spiral. Place on flat surface and decorate with silver star stickers and silver marker. Poke a hole in the center. Thread the string through the hole, knot the end, and hang.
Put a Zathura spin on the classic game “Simon Says” and have the children follow your commands.

Robot says . . .

- Walk like a robot
- Talk like a robot
- Dance like a robot
Attention all space adventurers! Pilot your ship back to the surface of the moon. Beware of the black holes!
Color the robot.
This is a game for two or more players. The goal is to make the most four-sided boxes. Each player takes turns drawing lines from one star to another either horizontally or vertically. When a square is complete the player who finishes it puts his/her initial inside. The player with the most boxes wins.
