Houghton Mifflin Trade and Reference Division

Houghton Mifflin Company traces its literary legacy back through the Trade and Reference Division. In 1832, William Ticknor and James Fields assembled one of the most distinguished list of writers ever associated with one American firm, including Ralph Waldo Emerson, Henry David Thoreau, John Greenleaf Whittier, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Oliver Wendell Holmes, and Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

Today, the Trade and Reference Division publishes adult, children's, and reference books, including twenty-seven Pulitzer Prize winners, nine National Book Award winners, ten recipients of Caldecott Medals, and ten recipients of Newbery Medals.

Houghton Mifflin's Children's Book Group, comprising Houghton Mifflin Books for Children, Walter Lorraine Books, Clarion Books, Graphia Books, and Kingfisher, constitutes one of the richest backlists of children's literature in the industry. Today's list of authors is just as impressive, boasting many award winners, including Lois Lowry, David Macaulay, Chris Van Allsburg, Karen Cushman, Russell Freedman, Linda Sue Park, and David Wiesner, just to name a few.

This catalog includes all of our backlist children's books, in print through December 2005. In an age where books come and go we strive to bring our readers quality books that transcend time and generations. We are proud to celebrate classic books, such as Curious George, Mike Mulligan and His Steam Shovel, and Paul Galdone's The Three Billy Goats Gruff, which have remained in print decade after decade. As we grow and move into the future, we are always looking for books that stand the test of time. With the addition of the Kingfisher imprint to the Houghton Mifflin family we now round off our list with world-class atlases, encyclopedias, dictionaries, and an exciting new series written by veteran New York Times journalists.

The Trade and Reference Division is headquartered in Boston, Massachusetts, with an additional office in New York City.

How to Use This Catalog

This complete annotated backlist catalog of children's books for the Houghton Mifflin Children's Book Group includes all books currently in print through Fall 2005 and is arranged by grade level. Within each section, books are listed alphabetically by author. This catalog has two indexes: a subject index and an author, illustrator, and title index.

Preschool

This section includes books with brief texts and large-type books that can be read to toddlers and by children just beginning to read.

Grades K-3

Look in this section for picture books—both to read aloud and for independent reading.

Middle Grades

This section includes chapter books for middle-grade readers, as well as picture books and innovative nonfiction for older readers.

Teen and Young Adult

This section includes novels and nonfiction geared toward the young adult reader.

Adult Books for Teens

This section includes books that were originally published on the Adult Trade list but are suitable for high school students and up.

Reference Titles for All Ages

This section includes dictionaries, thesauri, encyclopedias, atlases, and other reference books. Also featured are the American Heritage® Children's reference books.

Spanish

Spanish and bilingual titles for toddlers all the way up to young adults can be found in this section. Also featured are titles from Larousse.

Let's Clean Up!

Illustrated by the author

Joe is delighted with his newly cleaned room. Now he can find all of the toys he wants to play with. But with so much space and so many great toys, which ones will he choose? As he pulls each from the closet and the toy box, his room grows messier and messier. “Told in rhyme . . . this all-around fun story for preschoolers is a good choice for beginning readers.” — School Library Journal

To the Tub

Illustrated by the author

Joe, stubborn young frog, does not want to take a bath. He delays bathtime as long as possible by asking for his favorite toys, until his father is so loaded down he trips and lands in the mud. Now Joe is not the only one who needs a bath. “The time-honored bath-procrastination ploy is portrayed, for a change, with a lovely absence of tension.” — School Library Journal

Little Rabbit's First Number Book

Little Rabbit Books

Illustrated by the author

With Alan Baker's playful little rabbits as their guide, very young children will learn readily as they enjoy the colorful mix of animals, objects, vehicles, and explore the interactive games on each page. Can you find the seven penguins? Who has the most strawberries? How many pairs of shoes are there? Which car came first in the race? Little Rabbit is discovering numbers mean fun and games . . . and numbers are everywhere. Parents and teachers will appreciate the variety of early numeracy skills that will help to give preschoolers a headstart at school. Whether it is a two-year-old learning to count from one to ten, a three-year-old fascinated by numbers found in the world around them, or a four-year-old discovering simple mathematical language — "more", "most", "fewer" and "all" — each young child will get an early grasp of numerical skills. Helpful notes, developed in consultation with an expert, on how to use the book make it fun and easy for parents and children to share.

What Did You Do Today?

The First Day of School

Illustrated by Carol Thompson

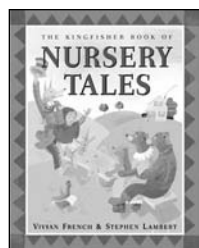

This charming story follows the day of a young boy and his working mother. Even though they're in different places, the soft, lively illustrations show that they're never far from each other's thoughts. And when it's time to go home, they'll both be ready for a hug and eager to ask, "What did you do today?" "A unique twist on a familiar theme . . . vastly reassuring."

RILEY, JENI

First Word Book

Illustrated by Mandy Stanley

This bright and colorful picture word book is a perfect introduction for toddlers to the exciting world of words, and an appealing vocabulary-builder for young children. Easy-to-recognize illustrations of familiar objects are accompanied by carefully selected words printed in a bold and friendly type. The thematic arrangement explores familiar settings — things we see in the kitchen, having fun at the beach, what is the weather today? — placing each word in a context a child will readily understand. Toddlers and their parents will find it the ideal 'look and say' book, while slightly older children will find essential vocabulary they will need in their reading. In each two-page spread, a simple sentence shows how key words are used and invites novice readers to practice newly acquired skills. Parents will appreciate the helpful tips in the introduction and the indexed word list in the back of the book. Includes a colorful, pull-out first words poster.

Rabbit's Bedtime

Illustrated by the author

What was good about today? Thus begins this lyrical invitation to reflect on a day well spent. In gloriously simple fashion, Rabbit's Bedtime illustrates the satisfying balance of creating, sharing, thinking, and learning that sustains every child. Above all, it reveals the power of love. A sweet enticement to reflect on the events of the day before nodding off to sleep. "Each activity is impressively captured in Wallace's distinct cut-paper artwork; the colors invite readers to linger, and the scenes are immediately recognizable. The positions struck by the rabbits are remarkably natural. While the rhymes and imagery are highly accessible, Wallace has added incidentals that expand the age range for the book, such as ladybugs, dragonflies, or a crab in a fish tank, that are fun to discover and identify. The final image of the bunny hunkering down with a teddy bear will bring smiles." — Kirkus Reviews
